

GERMAN-AMERICANS

Planning to Fitly Celebrate an Important Anniversary,

ARRIVAL OF THE FIRST GERMAN

In America One Hundred and Ten Years Ago—A Meeting Called for Next Monday Evening at Arion Hall. The Programme will include a Street Demonstration and Speaking.

The prospects are that next month will witness one of the greatest German-American celebrations ever seen in Wheeling. A project to celebrate the one hundredth and tenth anniversary of the arrival in this country of the first German who transferred his loyalty and allegiance from the Fatherland to the land of the stars and stripes, is being pushed, and the scheme will take definite form at a meeting of the German Pioneer Society which has been called for next Monday evening, at Arion hall.

This anniversary, which occurs on the eighth day of next month, is celebrated in Wheeling every year, but on account of this being the one hundredth and tenth it is proposed to make the celebration of 1893 something grander than the ordinary, and equal to the centenary celebration which occurred here in 1883. The celebration, it is intended, shall be participated in by Americans as well as German-Americans. The celebration, though of course not even yet outlined, will include a street demonstration which it is proposed to make a cracker-jack, and there will probably be speeches by prominent German-Americans and Americans in the evening at a place not yet selected.

Reception to Archbishop Kain.

A circular was yesterday issued by the committee on reception of Archbishop Kain calling for a meeting of priests to be held to-morrow at 10 o'clock a. m., in the young ladies' sodality hall of the cathedral, says the St. Louis Republic. The circular is signed by Charles Ziegler, chairman; William Walsh, James McCafferty, Joseph Schaefer, J. T. Foley and James McCabe, secretary. This is the committee which waited upon Archbishop Kenrick some time ago to learn his wish as to the reception of the conductor. The meeting to-morrow will be held for the purpose of making arrangements in accordance with these wishes. The reception will be private.

Social Events last Night.

Miss Ella Johnson, of North Main street, entertained friends last evening in honor of her sixteenth birthday. Miss Rose Lukens entertained a number of her friends last night at her home on North Front street. Dancing was the principal amusement. The new and finely fitted quarters of the Island club were first occupied last evening, and the formal opening was very enjoyable.

Death of Capt. McCoy.

The Steubenville Gazette has the following about a person well known here: An interesting character, Major J. C. McCoy, died at the Railroad hospital here Tuesday. He had been Pan-Handle agent at Washington and Noblestown, Pa., for sixteen years. He superintended the building of the Hempfield road from Wheeling to Washington, Pa., and was general manager of the road for years. In his old age he was sent here this spring at the expense of Superintendent S. J. Turner. He so resembled General Grant that he was often taken for him.

The Death of C. Schepp.

Conrad Schepp, who died at his residence on South Eoff street Thursday morning, will be buried this afternoon at 4 o'clock, the interment being in Mt. Zion cemetery. He was but forty-one years old, but continued ill health compelled him to retire from business some time ago. Previous to that time he was in the dry goods trade, and he won the esteem of all who knew him by his upright character. His death in the prime of life caused wide sorrow.

INTERESTING TALKS

By Prof. Crago and Rev. Dr. Riker to the City Teachers.

The first meeting of the Wheeling Teachers' Association for this school year was called to order by City Superintendent Anderson promptly at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He made a few remarks congratulating the teachers on their reassembling on this, the first meeting of the association.

Prof. Jones led in prayer. Two songs were sung by the pupils of Clay grammar school.

Prof. Crago read a short paper on the subject, "The Ideal Teaching," making the following points:

The ideal teacher should have—

1. A knowledge of the branches taught; i. e., good scholarship.

2. A knowledge of the taught—of the child, of the child mind, its proper development, etc.

3. Should know much more than he is required to teach, should be a man or woman of wide information.

4. The teacher should be a student, ever learning, should study methods, read educational journals, and keep abreast of the times in everything pertaining to the good of mankind.

5. Should be industrious—the school room is no place for a lazy man or a lazy woman.

6. Should be apt to impart knowledge.

7. The ideal teacher is a man or a woman of good character.

Dr. A. B. Riker, pastor of the Fourth Street M. E. church, gave a talk in his most interesting manner. He first spoke of the matter of teaching religion in school. While we may not teach sectarianism, there are certain fundamental truths, that all, Catholic, Jew and Protestant, can agree upon, and these should be taught.

Home influence on the school and school influence on the home were next alluded to, and in most eloquent words, he spoke of the influence the teacher can exert. He urged the teacher to strive above all things to make good citizens of the boys and girls. He said the future destiny of the republic is in the hands of the public school teacher. His talk was well received by the teachers.

"The Isle of Champagne."

This evening this popular burletta will be seen at the Wheeling Opera House. No more brilliant success has been obtained for many years than that achieved by Mr. Seabrooke in his delightfully quaint and humorous impersonation of the character of King Pomery Secord, the exalted ruler of "The Isle of Champagne," whose inhabitants are supposed to have been ignorant of the use of water as a beverage until accident opens their eyes to its luxurious advantages. The story of the opera is amusing and wholly original, and the scenes and action admit of great freedom of design on the part of the artist. "The Isle of Champagne," overlooked by geographers, lies upon the billowy bosom of a sea of the choicest vintage, wine spouts from its springs and courses in rivulets through this paradise. There is no water, not even for stock purposes, in this very "tight little isle." If a fire breaks out the local department wets it down with a stream of golden fizz, and the laundry work is done by means of the same plentiful fluid.

"The Old Soldier."

The lively mirth provoking comedy, "The Old Soldier," was produced last night at the Opera House to a good audience. The play is replete with songs, dances and a broad brim of humor which kept the audience convulsed. The soldier was of course assumed by Phil W. Peters in a style which is peculiarly his own. There has been an urgent demand for a repetition, which the manager has been unable to give, which will disappoint many who failed to see "The Old Soldier."—Leader, Birmingham, N. Y.

The above company will be at the Grand next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Devil's Mine."

Another large audience greeted Mr. Fred Darcy and his excellent company in "Devil's Mine" at the Grand last night. The play is a border melodrama of more than average merit and bristling with stirring situations and exciting incidents. The scenery is very handsome and the mechanical effects, especially the cataract of real water, among the most realistic scenes ever seen in the city. The "Devil's Mine" will give a grand matinee to-day, and to-night's performance will close the engagement. Seats are on sale at the box office.

In Childhood's Happy Days.

Among the incidents of childhood that stand out in bold relief, as our memory reverts to the days when we were young, none are more prominent than severe sickness. The young mother vividly remembers that it was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured her of croup, and in turn administered it to her own offspring and always with the best results.
